SECTION A

COMMENTARY

In this time of economic difficulty globally and domestically, our Malaysian national budget for 2017 tabled in Parliament by the prime Minister on Friday, 21st October 21, 2016 is pragmatic and at the same time strategic. It is inclusive, prudent in spending and aim's to generate economic growth.

The Budget projected an optimistic increase of more than 4% GDP growth that will generate sufficient income to meet the Budget allocation of RM 260.8 billion with a small fiscal deficit of 3%. Out of the allocation, about 80% is for operating expenditure, 10% for economic development and 5% each for security as well as general administration.

The allocation for economic development covers a broad spectrum of strategies and a clear direction that include MySuria Programme, Mobilepreneur Programme, Agropreneur Programme, eUsahawan and eRezeki Programme; to rejuvenate the creative industry.

Economic development requires a conducive and healthy living environment, especially digital connectivity. Therefore emphasis is given to upgrade e-commerce ecosystem, digital marketing and high speed broadband coverage. The introduction of the first Digital Free Zone in the world, merging physical and virtual zones will facilitate international e-commerce and invigorate internet based innovation.

In respond to the expectation of the business community for the tax rate to decrease and make Malaysia more competitive, the Budget has reduced the tax rate of first RM 500,000 of qualified SME from 19% to 18%.

The innovative incentive to reduce tax rate for all companies that's based on a percentage increase in income compared to the previous year of assessment is new. The tax rate will be reduced 1, 2, 3 or 4 percentage point from the corporate rate of 24% for increase of taxable income of less than 10%,15%,20% and 20% respectively. For example, an increase of taxable income of RM 2million from RM10million would have a tax saving of RM 80,000.

In terms of social equality, the Budget has identified the economic well beings of the people into the Top 20%, Middle 40% and Bottom 40% so that the allocation of social assistants can be channeled to those in need. This is especially noticeable in housing and BRIM financial aids. The Budget also recognizes the inefficient bulk subsidy system that burdens the Government's financial position.

As an effort to raise sufficient government revenue to fund the expenditure, the Budget has place serious emphasis and warning on tax compliance. In this respect the Inland Revenue Board, the Royal Malaysian Custom Department and the Companies Commission of Malaysia has established the Collection Intelligence Arrangement. Taxpayers must therefore focus on understanding the tax legislation, good accounting practice and have a policy of due compliance tax management.

2. REVENUE

Total revenue in 2017 is estimated to increase by 3.4% to RM219,726 million, largely supported by an expected higher collection of tax revenue. Tax revenue is estimated to increase by 8% to RM180,580, which represent 82.2% of the total revenue. The tax revenue consisting direct and indirect taxes represent RM120,739 million and RM59,841 million, respectively. Direct tax is expected to be increased by RM10,239 million or 9.3% as compared to 2016 due to higher collection of corporate income taxes (CITA). On the other hand, the revenue increase from indirect tax which is mainly generated from GST collection, is projected to be higher at RM40,000 million.

In 2017, non-tax revenue is projected to be lower at RM39,146 million, a reduction of 14% over 2016 and contributing 17.8% to total revenue. The decrease of non-tax revenue is caused by lower receipts from investment income mainly dividend contributed from Petroliam Nasional Berhad (PETRONAS) to Treasury every year.

3. EXPENDITURE

Total Federal Government expenditure for the 2017 Budget is estimated at RM260,799 million, an increase of 3.4% over 2016. Of this, RM214,800 million is for operating expenditure and the remaining of RM45,999 million is allocated for development expenditure. Operating expenditure is expected to increase by 3.7%. This insignificant change is a continuous effort to rationalise and opitimise Government spending that prioritizes the well-being of the citizen. Emolument, pension and gratuities is estimated to increase to RM99,185 or 6.8% as compared to 2016 due to the government appreciation to the contributions of civil servants that provide benefit such as salary annual increment, setting minimum starting salary and pension rate which will benefit almost 1.6 million civil servants.

Government development expenditure is projected to increase by 2.2% to RM45,999 million over 2016. The economic services sector will be allocated the largest sum of RM25,862 million or 56.2% of total development expenditure in 2017. It is expected to be largely spent on transport and infrastructure development (RM10,599 million), trade and industry sector (RM4,927 million), public utilities and energy (RM2,582 million) and boosting agricultural productivity as well as accelerating rural development (RM2,416 million). 4. ANALYSIS OF CHANGES

REVENUE

The total estimated revenue for 2017 is RM219,726 million compared to RM212,595 million in 2016. This is due to Government expectation of higher collection from direct tax which consists of corporate income tax (CITA). Meanwhile, the increase in revenue is also derived from indirect tax in the form of higher GST collection.

EXPENDITURE

The total estimated expenditure for 2017 is RM260,799 million compared to RM252,126 million in 2016. This is a reflection of the budgeted increase in operating expenditure by 3.7% as an appreciation to the contribution by the civil servants.

The overall development expenditure has been budgeted to increase by 2.2% particularly in the areas of economic and social services sector to provide a better quality of life for the citizen.

5. MACRO ECONOMY

The Malaysian economy in 2017 is expected to expand between 4% to 5%. This will be largely contributed from growth by domestic demand driven by private consumption and private investment expenditures which are expected to expand 6.3% and 5.8% respectively. In tandem with higher investment activities, the savings-investment gap is expected to narrow to 0.5% - 1.5% of Gross National Income (GNI) (2016: 1% - 1.5%).

In addition, inflation will remain manageable, while the economy continues to operate under full employment.

The broad-based growth from all sectors in the economy, particularly from services and manufacturing sectors, the nominal GNI per capita is expected to increase by 5% from RM37,812 to RM39,699.
